

OEMSERVICES

Established in 2005, OEMServices is a worldwide leader in aircraft component Repair-By-The-Hour (RBTH), logistic and trading services. Founded by four major Original Equipment Manufacturers (OEMs); Diehl Aerospace, Liebherr Aerospace, Thales Avionics and Zodiac Aerospace with a mission to provide expertise by developing original solutions linking aircraft operators and OEMs, OEMServices offers airlines and OEMs fully integrated support services by regrouping capabilities, assets and expertise of various OEMs.

Headquartered in Paris Charles de Gaulle (CDG) airport and with service centers in Singapore, Dubai, New York, Atlanta and Piscataway, including more than 40 line-stations worldwide, OEMServices provides global AOG, ware-housing and aircraft distribution support to both Airlines and OEMs.

Today, OEMServices Integrated Component Solution provides major airlines with component pooling and Repair-By-The-Hour (RBTH) support for all Airbus platforms (A380, A350, A330 and A320 families), Boeing 777 and Boeing 787 aircraft. In addition to the Airbus A350 RBTH program with Singapore Airlines, OEMServices has been working with Singapore Airlines since the first Airbus A380 in 2007. A long term extension of the contract was recently signed signalling the confidence and strength of partnership between OEMServices and Singapore Airlines.

With the 5 major services centers, OEMServices Warehousing and Logistics Services provides optimized worldwide transport & component distribution services. OEMServices Trading Services offers AOG or Critical component services support for Airlines and OEM customers requiring component exchanges, loan or purchases. No matter the request, OEMServices is here to serve and support our customer needs 24/7.

Being the regional service center for all customers in Asia Pacific, OEMServices Singapore recently expanded its facility in Changi North occupying more than 600 sqm of warehouse space and offices in June 2017. OEMServices looks forward to working with you and continue to fly with the original!
